

Final Session: “Next Steps”

Suggested Discussion Questions

- What kind of an infrastructure is needed to support future interagency/collaborative research and improved policy coordination and programming in aging with disability?
- Are any of components of the needed infrastructure already in place? What can we build on, what do we need to create?
- What are the key policy and organizational levers that can support such an initiative?
- Who are the key players and likely partners in building this infrastructure?
- Where should we start? What interagency/collaborative research and policy initiatives should we tackle first?
